The Screen.

Nelson The Dummy
Dixie Sahara
Princess The Woman of Lies

It has been a long time since a Hipp audience got as much fun for its money as they did last night on the return engagement of Morrell's Virginia Belles. "The Moonshiner's Daughter" is the title of the skit they used, and the comedy coloring put to the story by Bob Worrell is a natural born comedian and has a keen sense of the public likes and dislikes. His talent for comedy is given its fullest swing in the first bill, and it is a corker. Minnie Hyster is just as sweet as ever, and with Charley Worrell puts over a snappy dance number. Charley goes the limit with his work, and runs in some extras that go over well. He is one of the hardest working boys that ever stepped on the stage, and his motto is "Give Them Their Money's Worth." Gene, the straight man, is always the same handsome fellow, pleasing in personality and handling his part of the mountaineer wife who runs her own household and the old man, and she succeeds in making things warm for everybody, putting plenty of pep into a part that has real hard work in it. Silk Lally is just as smooth as his cognomen indicates, and makes an impressive officer. The chorus is short in quantity but long in quality. They are swell lookers, dance and sing briskly, and add zest to the performance. The clever little red beaded lady, we warn you has studied hypnotism, and once you meet her gaze fairly, she is said to exert wonderful power over you. Mabel Campbell is her name, and mail addressed to her at the Hippodrome will reach her all right. The other members of the chorus strange to say are Helen Helen, the first being Carlson the second Wilson, and in spite of the way their name sound, they are nice little folks from the front row at least. Tommy Worrell is the youngest member of the troupe taking part in any bill. Only three birthdays, and not born on February 29 either. Tomorrow night, the little favorite all over the Gus Sun time will be seen in the bill which is a burlesque adaption of "Tennessee Partner."

Musical Comedy at Grand.

A dash and dashing seldom seen in musical comedy offerings is to be seen at the Grand tonight when Murray and Mack, the eccentric comedians, will appear in "I'll Say So." Both are talented fellows, and if the vehicle in which they are seen is as good as it seems, the entertainment ought to be well worth while. A splendid chorus of pretty girls lends a striking background to a production which has been lavish in its expenditure of money for brilliant effects, settings and costumes.

Best of Russian Music.

Musicians, alone, have appreciated to the full the meaning of the richness of coloring, the exquisite purity of the theme, and the lovely, alluring qualities of composers from Russia and the Balkans, whose marvels of art have been but little known and slightly appreciated in this country. The Russian Symphony Orchestra has been the great means of bringing before the people this music of a race intensely musical from its birth; a race which has given us most of our greatest modern musicians and composers. And this famous Orchestra has so presented the music of these races that no musical organization ranks higher today than the Russian Symphony Orchestra. Through the keen interest experienced in it by music lovers of large means, the Russian Symphony Orchestra has been able to establish itself upon a solid basis, a thing not fully accomplished during the fourteen years in which it has taught all who heard its harmonies to love and appreciate and want more of the wonderful music of Russia and the Balkan States.

Dixie Repeating Bill.

"Sahara" the splendid Louise Glaum attraction at the Dixie drew nice box office receipts yesterday, as it should. It is a clever picture of

GREAT FOR EMERGENCIES

San Cura Ointment Should Be in Every Home.

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San Cura. In most every case where it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Mitchell of Centerville, Mo., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

It has great healing and antiseptic value. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by Martin's Drug Store to relieve any kind of piles, eczema, scabies, rheumatism, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, hemorrhoids, and chapped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty and ready to have in the house for emergencies for bruises, burns, cuts or sores, because it relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is in demand. 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar at Martin's Drug Store.

BEST SKIN SOAP.

In San Cura Soap, because of its great antiseptic and healing virtues. Use it regularly, and it will make the skin soft and velvety; will remove pimples and blackheads. It's the real soap for babies' tender skin, which mothers of infants should remember. 25 cents a cake at Martin's Drug Store. If your druggist does not have it send to Thompson Medical Co., Titusville, Pa.

the spectacular kind, and has a particular appeal for the women folk who admire the wonderful gowns worn by the star in the course of the play.

Deaf and Dumb Story.

Jack Pickford is the hero in a story entitled "The Dummy" showing on the Nelson screen today. It is a detective story in which a boy pretends to be deaf and dumb in order to help a detective run down a band of kidnapers. The thoroughness with which the young star goes after his work is well demonstrated in the preparation he made for this story, spending several weeks in one of the leading deaf and dumb schools of the country working himself into the queer mannerisms of those who neither hear nor talk.

World Release at Princess.

"The Woman of Lies" is the title of the Princess offering today, and in spite of the press notices to the effect that it is something of the different in pictures, the newness isn't disclosed in the synopsis at last, which is simply the old story of a woman who blackmails the man who lied on her and drove her from her home town. The picture will pass away the time on rainy days, but the tone of it is not the best, and the cleverest acting of June Elvidge and Earl Metcalf do not make up for the other deficiencies of the play.

Worthington

Sunday Services.

Rev. B. E. Hanes of Mannington preached in the Christian church on Sunday, both morning and evening. The sermon topic in the evening was "The Open Door," Matt. 7:13. Rev. Hanes went from here to Central Station, Doddridge county where he was called to conduct a funeral today, Monday.

Hog Cholera Appears.

It would seem that hog cholera has reached this section. John C. Jacobs lost a very large and valuable porker on Sunday night and from all symptoms it seems that cholera was the cause of its death. Other owners of hogs have begun to butcher their hogs before the cholera has a chance at them.

Many Automobilists Out.

A large number of automobilists from Fairmont and other sections took advantage of the fine weather on Sunday to try out the improved roads which were completed between Worthington and Fairmont on Saturday. It was said that as many as two hundred cars were on the streets yesterday. It is hoped the roads will be connected up with the Harrison county roads through to Clarksburg next season.

Largely Attended.

The home coming meeting at the old Teverbaugh church near here yesterday was attended by large crowds from various sections of the county, and the exercises were enjoyed very much by those present. The meeting was held to honor the returned soldier boys, several of whom were from that immediate vicinity.

Considerable Moving.

There has been several changes of residence within the past few days. Howard Smith has moved into the property recently purchased from Meli Mitico and A. D. Ireland and Mrs. Elizabeth Wood has moved into the property vacated by Mr. Smith. Mr.

900 FLU CASES REPORTED TO HEALTH SERVICE

Washington dispatches state that there were over 900 flu cases reported to the public health service last week. This is an increase over the previous week, and as cold weather draws near authorities are worried.

A recent public health report says: "City officials state and city boards of health should be prepared in event of a recurrence of the flu."

Even if one recovers from the flu, the after effects are terrible. The only safe thing to do to prevent the flu. Influenza can be prevented; last year's results prove that. It is important that a good germicide should be used frequently. Turpo is an effective germicide, combining the old-fashioned remedies of turpentine which has for years been known as the best home germicide for camp-meeting and pure milk base. Aro's prescription for flu turpo has been pronounced successful.

Snuff a little Turpo up the nostrils several times a day, and the flu germs will have little chance of getting a lodging and breeding place. Many physicians and hospitals use and recommend Turpo.

The fact that more than nine hundred cases of influenza have been reported to the United States Health Service makes it important that you prepare now. Buy a thirty cent jar of Turpo of your druggist now while he has a supply on hand, and use as directed.

If in spite of all precautions influenza develops, go to bed and summon a physician. Influenza is a serious malady and requires the best medical attention.
